a welcoming COMMUNITY

2014 REPORT TO OUR COMMUNITY

The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven
Since our founding in 1928, The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven has worked with donors, nonprofits and other leaders to create “a welcoming community”—a place that opens its doors, extends its embrace to those who otherwise might be left out of the mainstream of life and creates opportunities that strengthen our region.

A WELCOMING COMMUNITY

Teretulnud

Being a welcoming community requires seeing and understanding our community from the different perspectives of diverse people. It requires understanding the obstacles others face and the structures that exclude them, and challenging ourselves to see things that we may have long taken for granted through wholly different lenses. The Foundation embraces the idea that we will build a stronger community if we enhance our understanding of the full breadth of perspectives.

To support this report’s theme of “A Welcoming Community” you will see photos of places in our twenty towns in which people have made themselves and others feel welcome. Captions for all photos can be found in the Photo Index at the back of this report. Throughout the report you will also find the word “Welcome” translated into some of the more than 100 languages that are spoken as the primary language by students in the Greater New Haven school systems. You can find the list of languages and translations on pages 56 and 57.
Dear friends:

As a community foundation, our work is about funding organizations and programs, inspiring new giving for the benefit of our community, managing the charitable endowments that will support and sustain Greater New Haven far into the future and helping to set a community leadership agenda for positive change. We do all of these things, and more. Yet, in a broader sense, our work is about promoting community itself. The Community Foundation works to strengthen the connections that people here feel to this region, to its institutions and to one another.

How do we gauge the strength of our community and its connections? Certainly, the amount of local giving is one important metric, and social scientists could probably suggest others as well. But in its simplest form, the measure of our community can be found in how we – the people of Greater New Haven – treat one another. Judged by this criterion, ours is a strong community because ours is a welcoming community.

Extending a welcome – to new people, to new ideas, to the very notion of change itself – is central to who we are in Greater New Haven. It is a habit of mind, deeply embedded in our history. It is one of our proudest traditions, and one of our greatest strengths. The images in this annual report of open doors, welcome signs and places where people gather are meant to show that our community’s welcome is a part of our everyday lives. For the same reason, throughout these pages you will also find the word “welcome” translated into some of the more than 100 languages that are spoken at home by our region’s school children.

The Community Foundation is challenging ourselves and our community to extend our welcome even more broadly. In 2014, we embarked on new strategic initiatives in support of two groups that have historically been kept at the margins of our society: immigrants and those formerly incarcerated. We believe that integrating immigrants – including undocumented immigrants – more fully into our community life will enrich our culture, reinvigorate our economy, rebuild our neighborhoods and redefine our sense of ourselves for the better. And we know that at a time when criminal justice policies in Connecticut and nationally are finally moving away from mass incarceration, finding ways to successfully integrate those returning to our community following incarceration is becoming more and more important.

Being a welcoming community is not only about those at the margins. Last year marked the fifth year of The Community Foundation’s leadership commitment to
New Haven Promise. This ambitious effort supports the most accomplished and promising young people in New Haven to attend and to succeed in college. As we now look to the future of New Haven Promise, we are working to find new ways to extend our community’s welcome to these young people, so that they will return to Greater New Haven after graduation to build productive lives of commitment and contribution here. We believe that this is the best investment we can make in the future of our city and region.

The welcoming spirit that characterizes our community is seen in the extraordinary generosity of our people. In 2014, The Community Foundation had one of our best years ever in terms of new resources, receiving more than $15 Million in new gifts, including the largest commitment ever received by The Foundation in support of our discretionary grantmaking. In addition, The Community Foundation received $10 Million in transfers of endowment-like assets from local nonprofits for investment purposes. When combined with our extraordinary investment performance, these new gifts and transfers resulted in The Community Foundation having more than $460 million in total assets at the end of 2014.

The Community Foundation distributed more than $22 Million in 2014 to local organizations working to make Greater New Haven a better, stronger and more welcoming community. In addition, The Foundation’s support for local nonprofit organizations increasingly goes beyond grants to include capacity building and services such as gift planning and investment management.

Two thousand fourteen brought major changes to The Community Foundation board. The Foundation’s Chair, David Newton, and immediate past-Chair, Rolan Young Smith, both completed their seven-year terms. In addition, board member, Jim Perillo, passed away after a long illness. He is very much missed. The leadership of these three board members was central to so much of The Foundation’s progress in recent years, and we are most grateful for their service. Over the last year, The Foundation has been very pleased to welcome new board members Kellyann Day, Khalilah Brown-Dean and Carlton Highsmith as their successors.

In everything we do, The Community Foundation is privileged to work with so many donors, nonprofit staff members, community leaders, volunteers and local residents who care deeply about the future of our community. Every day, we draw inspiration from the passion and commitment of our partners.

We invite you to join us in this work. You will be most welcome.

President & CEO
The Community Foundation is Greater New Haven’s permanent charitable endowment – we unite people around common aspirations; invite them to imagine the possibilities, now and for the future; inform them about what needs to be done; invest in nonprofits and encourage others to do the same; and inspire people to work together to build a more vibrant community.

2014 HIGHLIGHTS

Grantmaking Tops $20 Million
Grants from The Foundation totaled more than $22 Million and included grants from the new 44-62 Fund, established in 2014 by an extraordinary gift from the Seedlings Foundation to support unrestricted grantmaking in New Haven and in the shoreline communities to the east. In 2014, The Foundation also committed to additional years of leadership grant support for the Connecticut Center for Arts and Technology (ConnCAT).

Gift and Transfers Exceed $25 Million
The Foundation had one of its strongest years ever in terms of new revenues. $15 Million dollars was received in gifts and an additional $10 Million was received in transfers to Foundation organization funds for investment management. Major gifts included a multi-million dollar gift to create the 44-62 Fund and the establishment of two donor advised funds out of the dissolution of a private foundation and several estate gifts (accounting for almost $4.5 Million of the total). Fifty-four new funds were established ranging from $2 Million to $10,000.
New Initiatives Launched

In the spirit of being “a welcoming community,” a place that opens its doors and extends its embrace to those at the margins of our community life, The Foundation launched two new initiatives in 2014. Special efforts and resources are being devoted to assisting local immigrants, including those who are undocumented, to integrate as fully as possible into the mainstream of life. Additional efforts are also being made to help integrate formerly incarcerated individuals more fully into the economic and social mainstream.

Investment Returns Rank Among the Top of Peers

The Foundation’s corporate assets returned 8.6% in 2014, well ahead of its market benchmark and near the top of its peer group for community foundation investment return. This outstanding performance was of benefit to the local organizations whose endowment-like assets are managed by The Foundation, which is now a registered investment adviser.

Strengthening the Arts Continues

Building on its long and proud history of supporting the arts, The Community Foundation is strengthening the local arts ecosystem by increasing financial resources, strengthening anchor institutions and reaching new audiences. With Foundation support, a collaboration of arts organizations has come together to identify their capitalization needs, examine the market and make recommendations about collaboration. The Foundation’s support for the arts is grounded in the belief that the arts enrich our lives in so many ways and bring diverse elements of the community together.

New Haven Healthy Start Receives $5.4 Million

The Foundation’s New Haven Healthy Start program competed successfully for a new, five-year $5.4 Million Federal grant that will enable the continuation and expansion of this vital maternal and infant health work. More broadly, in a rapidly changing and totally re-shaped healthcare landscape, this new funding creates the opportunity to strengthen the institutional partnerships that can bring the health of our most vulnerable babies closer to the center of health care priorities in our community.

The Community Foundation Celebrates Long Wharf Theatre’s Contributions

The Foundation took center stage as Long Wharf Theatre’s 50th anniversary season sponsor, supporting Long Wharf’s production of Our Town and Brownsville Song. The two plays highlighted themes and issues of importance to our community. Scenes from Our Town were woven into The Foundation’s 2014 Annual Meeting.

Efforts to Strengthen Nonprofits Expand

The Foundation’s many capacity building programs continued to grow in 2014, with more and more local organizations participating. giveGreater.org® continues to be an important resource for nonprofit organizations to learn from one another, to connect with donors and others in the community, and to keep the community informed. Over six years, through The Foundation’s annual community-wide giving event The Great Give®, nearly $4.3 Million has been raised for local nonprofits. In addition, now as a registered investment manager, The Foundation continues to offer organizations the opportunity to invest their endowment-like resources as part of our commingled pool.
The Valley Community Foundation Reaffirms its Mission by Adopting a Four-year Strategic Plan

VCF is The Foundation’s affiliate and philanthropic partner in the Lower Naugatuck Valley. In 2014, VCF considered how it could build on the early successes of its first decade to strategically grow and strengthen VCF as a substantial philanthropic resource for the Valley. VCF’s new strategic plan called for growing its permanent endowment, putting VCF resources to use creating positive impact and being an effectual resource for the Valley. VCF year-end assets were $19 Million held in 135 funds and last year VCF granted $1.3 Million.

New Haven Promise Scholarships Awarded to Largest Cohort

At Promise’s fourth annual Scholar Celebration in August 2014, one hundred ninety students received scholarship awards. Attendees also heard a recurring theme – “We want you back!” – emphasizing Promise’s dedication to bringing scholars back to New Haven to build successful lives of contribution and connection. With four classes of its scholars now in college, New Haven Promise is a central component of the community’s efforts to enhance academic outcomes and increase graduation rates.

Mission Related Investing Begins with The New Haven Teachers Fund

Working with a generous donor, the Greater New Haven Community Loan Fund and Webster Bank, The Foundation has created a down payment assistance program for New Haven teachers which to date has helped 7 families buy homes in New Haven. In addition, with the support of our trustee banks, Bank of America and Wells Fargo, The Community Foundation made a $2.5 Million special appropriation to create a pool to invest in local mission-related transactions.

Organization Funds are for nonprofits that wish to have a portion of their charitable assets managed according to a long-term investment model alongside and established for The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven Inc.’s (The Corporation) own endowment. In 2014, The Corporation became a registered investment adviser under the Connecticut Uniform Securities Act.
Donors are very special people. Ours are no exception. Where others see problems, our donors see opportunities — using their personal resources to advance causes they care about and create a stronger community for us all.

giveGreater.org® is a local resource for learning and giving that was created in 2010 by The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven to increase the amount of giving to local nonprofits and strengthen the region’s nonprofit sector by increasing visibility and transparency.

Donors wishing to support their favorite cause or nonprofit can visit giveGreater.org® to find information on more than 300 nonprofits, including their mission, governance, programs, financials and community impact.

The Great Give® 2014 generated more than $750,000 for local nonprofits. This 36-hour, community-wide online-giving event was held in conjunction with Give Local America, a national effort to create a community-wide giving day in celebration of 100 years of local philanthropy through the work of community foundations. More than $53 Million was raised as a result of Give Local America events occurring across the country.

As in years past, pro-rated matching funds and special grant prizes offered by The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven for The Great Give® were used to encourage giving. Additional prizes were offered by the Valley Community Foundation, Alexion Pharmaceuticals Inc. and Higher One CARES (Community Action for Resources Education and Service).

A few highlights

• 75% of grand prizes were awarded in 2014 to small organizations (budgets under $1 million)

• 20% of 2014 donors were introduced to giveGreater.org® through the event

• 94% of 2014 donors rated their online giving experience as satisfactory or very satisfactory

• giveGreater.org® nonprofits received nearly $3 Million between 2010-2014

*for a list of donors who gave through giveGreater.org® in 2014, please visit cfgnh.org/givegreater
Many attorneys, bankers, accountants and financial planners have found The Foundation to be the ideal vehicle through which their clients can achieve their philanthropic objectives. We are proud to partner with these professionals to build effective philanthropy in Greater New Haven.
Named for the donor whose bequest established the first fund, the Nettie J. Dayton Circle honors those living donors who have created a permanent charitable legacy in their will or through a deferred gift. We thank our past Dayton Circle visionaries and the present members listed here for their foresight and commitment.

IN THE LAST FIVE YEARS

44% OF GIVING CAME FROM BEQUESTS
In addition to the Board and staff, many people contribute to the work of The Community Foundation as volunteers. Serving on committees, giving feedback through focus groups, reviewing grant and scholarship applications and spreading the word as community ambassadors, our volunteers strengthen the community in so many ways. We thank them.

VOLUNTEERS
Our record of excellent financial management and strong investment returns is an important element of how we serve donors and nonprofits, and grow the community’s charitable capital.

FINANCIALS AND INVESTMENTS

The Community Foundation’s assets grew to more than $460 Million as of December 31, 2014 and for the year-end 2014, the annualized net investment return of The Corporation was 8.6%, or 3.9% better than its market benchmark. Since 1995, the return has been 8.9% annualized net of investment management fees, surpassing both its market-driven benchmark and the performance of comparably-sized community foundations nationwide.
